The President on Wages.
100 Billion a Year.
7 Years of Mussolini.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S assertion of the soundness of national prosperity, reassures many.

The president, as he proved when in charge of the Department of Commerce, understands business as few men do in the United States.

His mind, thoroughly trained, is not deceived by appearances or hopes.

When he says "The fundamental business of the country is on a sound and prosperous basis," the people may rely upon it that he knows.

MOST interesting in his statement are the words "There has been a tendency of wages to increase," and the output per worker in many industries again shows an increase, all of which shows a
"good condition."

Many foolishly believe that prosperity can be built on low wages and cheap production. President Hoover knows better. The basis of prosperity is high wages that make it possible for workers to purchase not merely life's necessities, but the most important luxuries, automobiles, radios, bathtubs, electric washing machines.

THE annual American revenue is above ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND MILLION DOL-LARS.

And Frederick H. Ecker, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, shows that wage earners get more than sixty billions of the total of one hundred billions. They used forty-two billions for the cost of living, leaving twenty-two billions for investment, savings and the pleasures and luxuries of life.

Stock gamblers may worry, but there is nothing the matter with the national prosperity.

It is reminded that one man change conditions throughout the nation by Italy's seventh anniversary of Mussolini's rise to power.

What that man has accomplished will remain one of the marvels of history, whatever may be the final result.

Most surprising is that Mussolini has been so little spoiled by his success.

The King still sits on his throne
and while Mussolini's word is absolute law, forms of government are carved out in the usual way.

It would not have been so in the days of Rome.

THE two-car family is established. One automobile is not enough for any family that can afford two. Many use and need three. Some have six. Unlike horses, cars don't eat, when not in use.

NOW comes the two radio family.

To have only one radio set in your house is like having only one book in your library.

Everything comes by air. Young people have their dance music and cheerful songs while older people listen to music, more serious, solemn speeches or sermons.

A man, well-to-do, needs three radio sets, two for the family, one for servants.

No well regulated servants' hall
should be without a first class radio equipment.

TRAFFIC and transportation experts of Philadelphia prepare a comprehensive scheme
for New York City to cost one billion dollars.

Once that magic word "billion" made men gasp. Eyes were lifted to heaven when the United States spent one billion in two years for all expenses. A quarter of a billion seemed a great deal to spend on the Panama Canal.

But men's views have changed.

Seven Drown As
Flying Boat Sinks

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(INS).—
The Gulf of Genoa was being scoured by air and sea craft today for the bodies of four of the seven persons who were drowned
when the British Imperial Airways flying boat, City of Rome, sank in a furious gale
while being towed to safety.

Only two bodies have been recovered so far, according to reports received today from Genoa. Of the seven victims, four, including one woman,
were passengers. The other three comprised the airliner's crew.

The plane, an all-metal trimotored affair, was in the Indian air mail service. It was making the Alexandria to Genoa lap of its western flight when the tragedy occurred.

Lester Patton, 29, and Clarence
Rice, 31, were killed and Wallace Matz, 24, the pilot, was injured when the tri-motor crashed near Jerusalem in Monroe county. One of the passengers is believed to have "frozen" the controls by accidentally pressing his feet on the pedals. The craft was of the double-control type. It went into a spin at 500 feet and hit some telephone wires. It was completely wrecked.

While his mother looked on, Carl Jennwein, 23, of Hamilton, was killed near that city in making a parachute jump from an airplane which was flying at the height of 2,000 feet. The parachute failed to open.

Two Negroes, Reuben Floyd, 35,
of Hamilton, and A. J. Miller, 19, of Middletown, were also killed at Hamilton when the ship which they had paid to take a ride in, crashed from an altitude of 500 feet. The pilot of the ship, Wallace Mott, was

Wet Weather Hits
Hollow Road Job

Because of wet weather little progress was made on road improvement in Columbiana county
last week, County Surveyor Lloyd Kirk announced today.

No concrete was poured on the California Hollow road section of the Youngstown-East Liverpool road, although some grading was done.

Approximately one-half of the concrete top has been run and about two weeks more of favorable weather will finish this part of the job. The road will probably be opened to through traffic by the latter part of November.

Remembrance Road
Rally Wednesday

East Liverpool and Columbiana county will send a large delegation to Vienna, 10 miles north of Youngstown, Wednesday, to attend a meeting in the interest of the proposed "Road of Remembrance" which will be held at 10 a. m.

State Highway Director Robert
N. Wald, Columbus, and possibly Governor Myers V. Cooper, will attend the meeting, which is expected to attract road enthusiasts from four eastern Ohio counties—Colum-biana, Mahoning, Trumbull and Ashtabula.

The East Liverpool delegation will be headed by Albert W. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Motor club.

T. H. Fisher Marks
40 Years' Service
At First National

40 YEARS ON JOB

One-time Messenger
Now Active and Executive Vice-president of Bank.

ACCEPTS PLACE
WHEN BUT 16

Born in Ohio Township, Pennsylvania
and Educated in Fredericktown Schools.

Fortieth anniversary of his connection with the First National bank was celebrated today by Thomas H. Fisher, active and executive vice president.

Starting as a messenger boy on October 28, 1889, Fisher has watched the bank's assets grow from $300,000 to more than $5-000,000. When he began his work he was among three employees. The bank today has a force of 26.

Fisher was born in Ohio township, just across the state line in Pennsylvania on May 30, 1873. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher, moved to East Liverpool
when he was young. He was educated in Fredericktown, where he lived for 10 years, and came to East Liverpool when he was 16 to accept a position in a bank, then located at the foot of Broadway.

Bank Organized in 1874.

David Boyce, father of C. R.
Boyce, was acting president of the bank, which had been organized in 1874. J. M. Kelly, father of County Commissioner J. C. Kelley, was vice president, while N. G. Ma-cumm was cashier. H. H. Blythe, former cashier of the Citizens' National bank, now merged with the First National, was teller and bookkeeper.

From the position of messenger,
Fisher advanced to bookkeeper,
assistant cashier, cashier and active and executive vice president.
He was cashier for 16 years.

Before the First National was established, East Liverpool manufacturers and business people did their banking in Wellsburg and Pittsburgh. For many years there were no banks between Beaver and Wellsburg.

The First National was erecting the present East Liverpool Publishing company building, Washington street, when Fisher began his services. It moved into the new location in April, 1930.

This building was occupied until August, 1923, when the present $250,000 bank was erected and occupied.

John J. Purinton, president of the bank, and John W. Vordrey, member of the board of directors, presented Mr. Fisher with a large basket of flowers in commemoration of his 40 years of service.

Tammany Predicts 500,000
Plurality For Mayor Walker

Four Candidates in Fight in New York.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLAN.
NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(INS).—
The mayoralty campaign entered its final full week today with all four candidates in the thick of the battle and both of the major parties voicing supreme confidence in victory. The election will be held on November 5.

The candidates are:
Mayor James J. Walker, who is seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket.

Representative Fiorello H. La
Guardia, candidate of a so-called

Republican-Fusion movement, which is more Republican than Fusion.

Norman Thomas, Socialist.
Former Police Commissioner
Richard E. Enright, candidate of the square deal party.

Tammany leaders expressed the opinion today that Walker will be re-elected by a plurality of 500,000.
New York City is normally Democratic and the Tammany organization is strongly entrenched. Then, too, development in the 5-cent fare
subway issue have been construed
as decidedly favorable to Walker.

The official Tammany estimate of the outcome of the election will not be available until late this week. This estimate will be based on reports from the assembly district leaders in all the boroughs.

WALL STREET
UPSET AGAIN;
PRICES TUMBLE

Steel Falls Below
200 for Second Time.

OTHERS DECLINE

Ticker 22 Minutes Behind During First Hour.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(INS).—
Wall Street held the spotlight again today when stock prices, under an avalanche of selling, declined sharply in the first hour of trading. United States Steel fell below 200 for the second time in months, slumping to 198½, five points below Saturday's close.

General Electric dropped 2½ points to 270 and Westinghouse declined 1½ to 163. These two issues showed the most pronounced weakness in early trading.

All stocks, however, did not weaken. Many issues were selling only a fraction easier or holding firm.

Trading was heavy, sales aggregating $16,000 shares for the first half hour. The ticker was 22 minutes behind in reporting sales.

Other pivotal issues that were easier on early trading were: Radio 51¼, down 7; Johns Manville 155, down 4½; National Cash Register 90, down 4; American and Foreign Power 90½, down 9 and Sears Roebuck 121, down 6.

The declines were no great surprise to brokers. They had anticipated considerable liquidation. So-called weak accounts, here and elsewhere throughout the country, were being "cleaned up." All day yesterday clerks worked in Wall Street brokerage houses checking up on accounts.

from west to east, are: Semion

A large crowd was present at the airport to greet the fliers here.

William B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor company, was present, and the aviators
were the guests of the Ford company at lunch. They are to remain

Attack in Defense of Eyanston.

By William K. Hutchinson.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Rising to a question of personal privilege
in the senate today, Senator Hiram Bingham (R) of Connecticut, charged that the Caraway lobby investigating committee was "framed" for political purposes to damage the Hoover administration.

The senate sat silent and amazed as Bingham launched into one of the most vitriolic attacks heard on the floor in years, in defense of his action in placing Charles L.
Eyanston, employee of the Connecticut Manufacturers association in the senate committee during framing of the tariff bill.

He charged the committee with peared.

the rear axle. The driver endeavored to avert the vehicle into a small embankment but in order to avoid crashing into an automobile was forced to direct the truck to the other side of the highway.

The machine overturned, throwing
the passengers, except the girl,

Thrilling Story of Romance of Modern Girl
By Hazel Livingston

What Has Gone Before.
Nancy Hollenbeck, young, vibrant, and beautiful, reluctantly drops her latest beau, Mat Tully, when her mother warns her against marrying a poor man "as she did." At the rich Craigs' house party, Nancy receives the attentions of Jack Beamer, handsome sportsman unapparently married. Nancy and Louise, her sister, are called home. Their rich Aunt Ellie has arrived. She promises the girls a trip to Yosemite. Nancy hears from Jack Beamer. She pictures herself as the second Mrs. Beamer. Arrived at Yosemite, Nancy finds it dull until a handsome man enters the door. Next day Nancy "meets" him. He is Roger Decatur, a ranger. The Porters, rich but dull relatives, arrive. Nancy plans to use them as chaperones on a mountain trip to meet Roger. He appears the first night. The Porters are not pleased.

Now Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER XI.

"Very inconsiderate of her to go riding, when she knows you girls don't ride," Mrs. Porter said severely.

"Maybe the girls could learn a little—"

"Nonsense, Herman. Do you want that Essie and Gladys should fall off a cliff and get killed?"

Mr. Porter had to admit that he did not, so Nancy and her ranger rode alone.

They made long trips, starting out just after dawn, sometimes with a pack trail, sometimes alone.

"Got to take a run up to Youngs Lake" or "the Dana River camp" or "Glen Aulin," Roger would announce the night before. "Come with me, youngster?" Even Nancy guessed that the long trips into the back country were all in line of duty. Roger Decatur was "hanging around," loathe to leave and get back to his official duties. These unofficial tours of inspection were his excuse.

Shivering in the chill morning before the bright sun had warmed the day, Nancy would slip into her worn riding things, run a comb through her short, curly hair, and meet Decatur by the corral where the mules were already packed. Camp beds, blankets, foodstuffs. Everything for the High Sierra Camps above the Meadows had to go in on mule back. There are no wagon roads, only the narrow, winding trails.

And riding through the meadows, starred with flowers, with the soft wind blowing, and the world of teas and parties and pretending far away, nothing seemed to matter but the sun and the wind and being alive.

Sometimes with a short, sharp stab of pain she thought of Louise sitting with Aunt Ellie on the veranda of the Awahnee, rocking . . .

Well, Lou's turn would come . . . after she and Jack Beamer were married. The things she'd do for Louise, and mama and papa . . .

Not a word from Beamer since she had left the Valley. Mail was slow up here in the High Sierras, and the days slid by so fast, so lightly, so full of beauty. Soap bubble days, coming and going so swiftly you could hardly keep count. Full of color and beauty and a strange sort of languor. Unreal days. Days in which you weren't yourself at all, but someone else, eating and sleeping and riding and laughing. Exulting in the feel of the saddle under you, not caring that your clothes smelt of horseflesh, that your nose was sunburnt your hands grubby.

Roger Decatur was part of the spell. He seemed to understand her every mood. Words were hardly necessary, they could jog along over the trails for an hour, not bothering to speak, grinning at each other expansively, sometimes breaking into absurd little snatches of song.

Lunches were the big event of the day. With the horses tethered to trees, and one of Roger's tiny fires burning brightly in its circle of stones near the river bed, she would unpack the fruit and sandwiches while he watched the sizzling bacon, and pulled the coffee pot off the blaze at the very moment it frothed and started to spill its brown foam into the flame.

Nancy found herself telling him things about home, things she had never told anyone before. About the house, little, weather-beaten and genteelly shabby, perched on a Piedmont hillside, between its more pretentious neighbors. The Freese's rambling stone house, closed nearly all year while the family were in Europe or New York, on one side, the Whaley's Italian palace on the other. About Mama, who was a Peebles, fuming because the Whaley's were getting into society, when they weren't anybody at all. "And of course it is absurd," Nancy finished. "It just goes to show that we haven't any real society in the west any way. Why Mrs. Whaley's mother used to do a big family wash every Monday! Honestly! Mama says the girls used to giggle as they passed the yard because she'd be out there with her mouth full of clothespins, and red flannel underwear and crocheted petticoats flapping all around!"

Roger laughed, showing all his even, white teeth. "My mother did her own washing too, and sometimes some for the neighbors. I used to run the wringer for her when I was a little kid. We lived on a little ranch, in Nevada. Great days . . ."

"But that—that's different. On a ranch,"

"Oh, I don't know. We were sort of poor white trash. Dad was what they used to call a remittance man—got a little money every month from home, to keep him away. A bribe as it were! He met my mother up in the Klondike. She was a dance hall girl. Had a mighty sweet voice."

After a little pause he added, "She did her damndest to stick it out but I guess it was the loneliness that got her, she was used to a crowd. Dad and I were away on a hunting trip for about ten days, and when we came back she was gone. Lit out with a washing machine salesman. I remember how nice she left the cabin, with the fire all laid, and the bacon in the frying pan. Dad said he didn't blame her any, but he didn't want to stay there any more. We worked around the lumber camps in Washington for a while. Dad was killed in an accident in one of the mills about five years ago. Well, he had a pretty fair life . . . his share of fun . . ."

"But his wife, going off like that . . . it's such a terrible thing to do!"

Nancy's eyes were wide with horror. One's mother running away . . . Leaving a bewildered little boy, and a heartbroken husband. "I can't imagine any woman . . . being so cruel!"

Roger grinned, yawned and consulted the watch strapped to his sunburned wrist. "Oh well, she was only a girl. A pretty girl, Nancy. She meant all right. Only the going got too hard for her, so she gave up. If it were a man no . . . but a girl . . . shucks! You can't expect too much."

"But Roger a girl ought to be willing to play the game like a man! You can't think very much about women if you think that they're all like that, all—"

He stood looking down at her, still laughing. "Well, who'd fancy you'd have ideas like that. You and your pink teas, and what not?"

Nancy looked away, suddenly embarrassed. He teased her, good naturedly, all the long ride home. "Why you aren't a modern girl at all! You aren't cut out for a society dame, Nancy. You're a throw back. Come on now, come clean, haven't you got some ancestors that aren't blue-blooded? I'll bet you have. How about your dad. I'll bet he's a two-fisted citizen with hair on his chest—"

Nancy looked straight into Roger's twinkling blue eyes, and chuckled. How papa would have loved that! Papa who could tell you all about all the prize fighters from John L. Sullivan on, and never read anything but the sport page and wild west magazines all about shooting and fighting and sudden death . . .

"Well, my father isn't very fierce. He isn't very well, and he works in a bank. But he is always talking about the wild and woolly, and my grandmother Hollenbeck lives in the country—"

"I knew it! You know more about the cows and chickens than you're letting on. Bet you marry a rancher."

Unaccountably her cheeks began to burn. Her heart began an angry beating . . . thump . . . thump . . . thump . . .

She heard herself say in a quivering, unnatural voice: "Oh, isn't that thrilling! I hate to upset all your wonderful detective work, but I never even saw my grandmother, let alone her farm. And if I'm going to marry a rancher— which I am—it isn't the kind you're thinking about. No love in a hovel, thank you! The ranch I'm going to live on about three months in the year is a rich man's hobby. There's electricity and plumbing and a swimming pool and thoroughbred horses and a French car—if you call that the primitive life!"

What We Need is Equity

Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, internationally known economist and outstanding Cleveland, holds that taxation without classification is tyranny, as much so to the citizen of Ohio in this year of 1929 as was taxation without representation for the colonists before the revolution.

"In these days, and for us, the tyranny from which we suffer is imposed upon us by the state constitution, which has decreed for nearly 80 years that all property shall be taxed at a uniform rate," he remarks. "The way to overcome this tyranny is for each voter to cast his ballot in favor of the proposed amendment to the constitution, thus making it possible for the legislature to distribute the burden so that industry may survive and so that hidden intangibles may be properly declared for assessment."

The Uniform Rule has never operated uniformly nor justly in Ohio and never can be made to do so. It requires, for instance, that "credits" shall be taxed. The legislature years ago enacted a law that allows the deduction of debts from credits, but not from any other kind of property. This destroys uniformity as to the taxation of property for the mortgaged home owner cannot deduct the debt on his home from the assessed value of his real estate.

The Uniform Rule requires that all stocks shall be taxed. The legislature has set aside this rule by allowing about seven billions of domestic stocks to be free from taxation. This is fair, though not constitutional, for the taxation of domestic stocks would be only another form of double taxation. It is a suit was brought in the United States courts all domestic stocks of Ohio would be placed on the tax duplicates and industrial Ohio put out of business.

The Uniform Rule cannot be enforced in respect to the listing of intangible property at the full rate of taxation. No legislature will allow taxing officials to enter financial institutions to assess intangibles at the full rate because a strict administration of the Uniform Rule would close these institutions and would drive owners of these intangibles into investing in tax exempt securities, locating their property outside the state, or hiding it.

Under the Uniform Rule only a little more than 7 per cent of the taxes of Ohio are paid by intangible property. The bulk of this has been paid by banks, corporations and widows and orphans whose estates are in the process of administration. Prior to the recent federal court decision, which set aside the Uniform Rule as far as banks are concerned, they paid a fourth of the intangible tax of Ohio. This decision reduces the intangible tax return from 7 to 5 per cent of the total. The ordinary individual does not return his intangibles because of the confiscation of his income, for he finds it more profitable to invest in tax-free securities or he has established a trust outside the state.

Changes in the form of wealth, the complexities of modern civilization, are steadily making the Uniform Rule more difficult of operation. Proof of this lies in the fact that in the last 28 years 21 states have found it advantageous to desert the Uniform Rule. Only 15 states still have it in their constitutions and in none of these is it strictly enforced for all have superimposed special taxes.

The purpose of the Tax Limit Amendment, for which Ohio is expected to vote Yes, is basically to correct the inequalities of present taxation and to make available tax funds that are not now obtainable.

Culture In The Raw

Instead of receiving his customary ovation, Leopold Stokowski, celebrated conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra, following the rendition of a modern composition, recently at Carnegie hall, turned, and discovered that part of his audience was hissing him.

Director Stokowski, long accustomed to audiences composed of ladies and gentlemen, might have torn his hair, cursed audibly—even hurled a bass violin at his listeners and been subsequently forgiven. Instead, he stepped to the front of the platform and gently advised those who had hissed that if they did not care for his music they would be better off at home.

The hissing, if the truth were known, was probably done by a very few. But those few, all too apparent in public places, ruined the concert for the others. Hissing is not the only annoyance practiced by this type of person. Audible conversation, always disconcerting, especially since the talking movie is in vogue, is a frequent offense.

There have been times in every person's life when he has committed mental murder because of some thoughtless vocal disturbance at a dramatic moment in a speech, drama, or musical presentation. Murder, while it may be the strongest impulse, is probably too severe, but a general mental attitude which will exile such offenders from public entertainments is justifiable.

Possession of sufficient funds to buy a seat at an entertainment should not warrant retention of the seat if its holder's actions are such as to make the other members of the audience uncomfortable.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28.—There is one branch of creative work which is not usually protected so as to give the designer his monopolistic right to whatever benefits may accrue from the marketing of the work. It is the designing of commercial goods and there is afoot a movement for commercial designers to join in a large organization which will make it a business to protect designs of members and defend infringement upon them.

The way is clearly open for the issuance of letters patent upon inventions and a patent is issued by the United States patent office to American inventors at the rate of one every twenty second of working hours. Also, the copyright laws are very liberal and by the simple expedient of sending two copies of a book, song, or similar work to the registrar of copyrights, together with a fee of $2 a copyright is automatically issued.

Existing law does offer protection for designs but under the patent law rather than under the copyright law. The obtaining of a patent is a more cumbersome and a more expensive job and also designs upon patents are more difficult to defend against infringement, except in cases of unique designs and in such cases infringement is rare.

For a number of seasons the American Bar association and other organizations, including artists, have urged upon congress the enactment of a design copyright law which will work as simply as the book copyright law and which would take the place of the cumbersome and expensive patent system, yet giving adequate protection. It is proposed that a fee of $3 be charged. Each copyrighted design would bear a marking reading "Design Copyrighted" or a symbol consisting of a circle with the letter D within.

The opposition to the measure which has caused delay in action comes from big merchandisers. They have pointed out to committees of congress that the burden of being always on their guard against infringement would be enormous and that they would be constantly beset with lawsuits. Thousands of designs constantly are being turned out. Large stores make hats and gowns which are the work of their own designers. Also they import a great quantity of goods. They would have to be constantly on the lookout and examine the designs copyrighted and compare them with the work of their own staff designers and with imported wares in order to avoid litigation.

The difficulties faced by courts in cases of infringement of patented designs are well explained in the following excerpt from the opinion in Gorham company versus White, 81 U. S. 511. The court said: "We are now prepared to inquire what is the true test of identity of design. Plainly, it must be sameness of appearance and mere difference of lines in the drawing or sketch, a greater or smaller number of lines, or slight variances in configuration, if sufficient to change the effect upon the eye, will not destroy the substantial identity. An engraving which has many lines may present to the eye the same picture, and to the mind the same idea or conception as another with much fewer lines. The design, however, would be the same. So a pattern for a carpet or a print may be made up of wreaths of flowers arranged in a particular manner, so that none but very acute observers could detect difference. Yet, in the wreaths upon one there may be fewer flowers and the wreaths may be placed at wider distances from each other. Surely in such a case the designs are alike. The same conception was in the mind of the designer and to that conception he gave expression."

Commercial designers do lose much through copying. A milliner will design a very chic hat and find it copied at or actually copied outright on every hand within a few days. The price for the original design falls in proportion. It is a practice of milliners and dress designers to take their most original models out of the show windows after working hours and substitute rather commonplace examples of their work because it is known in the trade that designers make a practice of window shopping in the evening, copying each others' most original ideas. During the day, it is figured, they are busy in their shops and have no opportunity to snoop.

Q. What is a hitch-hiker? H. H. A. A hitch-hiker is one who walks the road seeking and taking rides from any persons who may be going in the direction in which he wishes to travel.

Q. How much did Harriet Beecher Stowe profit by the dramatization of her novel, Uncle Tom's Cabin? E. B. N.

A. Mrs. Stowe, in her total disregard of the theater, had failed to reserve to herself the dramatic rights of the book. Consequently, it was at the call of any producer who wished to have it. Throughout the play's immensely profitable life she never got a dollar in theatrical royalties.

Q. Is it fermentation that makes a banana turn brown after it is peeled? What will prevent this? M. B.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Diary of a modern Peeps: Up and with Verne Porter to a cafe hung with cages of singing birds, but their twittering set our nerves at a twitter and we fell to quarreling about who paid the score but I finally gave in sullenly and permitted him to settle.

So to look in on a theatrical rehearsal, and saw a fellow leap from a high pedestal to a platform of sharp spikes in bare feet, and he told me he was a Hindu and had practiced this foolishness for 18 years. Home and to work and W. R. Hearst, Jr., stopped by to chat awhile.

In the evening I drove along the Harlem river and to Hoboken to see Joan Lowell in her dramatic offering. Afterward with a group to a German restaurant for a stoup of brew and we sang old songs, especially "Sweet Adeline," very sweet. To bed.

New York has three bachelor brothers who have taken three separate floors high up in a skyscraper apartment on Madison avenue. Each will have 14 rooms and their servant list totals 25. No women are to be permitted in the aeries.

One of these brothers is noted for his painful shyness. Recently he was invited to a dinner party where it was explained each male guest, as a guide to surprise the host, would wear full dress with a red vest, red bow tie and yellow shoes. When he arrived he was greeted with a roar of laughter by all who had come correctly attired. He remained for revenge. After dinner he started a dice game and won $30,000—exiting laughingly and without the customary blush.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

You need not be told by an eminent scientist that noises are disagreeable. They keep us awake at night and make us nervous in the daytime.

But how it ever occurred to you that noises can actually retard growth? This is a new idea, isn't it?

At a recent meeting in Boston of the National Home Economics association, a remarkable address was made by Dr. Donald A. Laird, of Colgate university. He is director of the psychological laboratory in that institution and for a long time has been studying the effects of noises on white rats.

Dr. Laird believes that the noises of American cities actually stunt the growth. Let me quote his statement: "For more than a year we have been following through the effects of city noises on white rats, yielding results which it would take about 30 years' observations upon humans to obtain. Rather startling effects have been recorded."

"For instance, the rats kept in relative quiet eat two or three per cent more food than their brothers and sisters that are kept under the electrically duplicated city noises; but with only this small advantage in appetite, as shown by food consumption, the rats kept under the quiet conditions grow somewhat around 10 per cent more rapidly.

"These scientifically controlled observations on animals are paralleled and confirmed by measurements of city and country children, which reveal almost invariably a greater rate of growth among the country boys and girls."

Of course it will take a lot of confirmatory work to prove that Dr. Laird is right. It would be easy to point out objections to his conclusions. For instance, there may be those who will dispute his final statement that "measurements of city and country children... reveal almost invariably a greater rate of growth among the country boys and girls."

But setting aside such objections there can be no doubt that the noises of a city have created a serious public health problem. This trouble me all the time. I was commissioner of health of the city of New York. In that great community of six millions of active persons, to say nothing of the millions of autos and trucks, there is bound to be clatter and din that are almost deafening.

If these noises actually impair the appetite, there can be no doubt that growth would be unfavorably affected. But even though growth is not affected, broken rest and irritated nervous systems are bad for the human race.

Every city should give heed to the problem of noise. There are so many devices for deadening sound that a systematic and earnest campaign would result in great improvement.

Prohibition's Rising Wave.

Certain wet propagandists are finding comfort in the fact that there have been several successive waves of prohibition sentiment in this country. Since every previous wave has subsided they predict that the present one will likewise subside. They base this prediction partly on the generalization that history always repeats itself.

Even if we grant the validity of this argument it furnishes at least as much aid and comfort to the drys as to the wets. It is an argument that cuts both ways. If it is true that each wave is followed by another one, if the present wave is certain to subside, as they would have us believe, it is equally certain to be followed by others. If this were all, the drys would be entitled to as much joy in the argument as the wets. It would be an even break.

It is on the other hand, each successive wave rises a little higher than the one which preceded it. The argument is decidedly in favor of the drys. Instead of looking at the struggle against the drinking evil as an endless and futile beating of surf against a rock-bound coast, we can begin to see it as a series of charges by a conquering army against crumbling entrenchments.

It is true, unfortunately or fortunately, that all reforms seem to come in waves or something like them. There is a rising tide of feeling against some evil and then there is a recession. But each time the tide rises a little higher and does not recede quite so far.

It is probably true that the high moral fervor of the war period, which some shallow people insist on calling war hysteria, has given way to a mild form of moral lassitude. Some probably thought that the fight was over and the victory won, when the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law were adopted. When the drys are again roused to vigorous action, the net tide of dry sentiment will rise higher than the last one. The election last fall and the increase in enforcement activities since seem to indicate that the tide is already beginning to rise again—Christian Science Monitor.

Senators Fighting Shy. None of the members of the United States senate are very keen to have membership upon the commission which will represent America in the approaching disarmament conference. They know that whoever accepts such an appointment will have to take up the burden of getting the senate to confirm whatever understanding is reached by the conference, and this is not always an easy task. President Wilson found this out when he told Europe that both the senate and his nation would approve the Versailles covenant, but when votes were counted in a great solemn referendum it was found that it had the approval of neither.

Of course the members of the proposed commission will not take such a risk of reversal. There will be no engagements which would involve this republic in the quarrels and politics of Europe. Indeed, since the initiative for world armies and navies came from the American republic, it is not easy to see how a senator even would lose caste or public favor through forwarding its objectives. But present-day senators are shy birds. The great primary system has made them so. Hence they are taking no chances, and will leave the real guidance of the conference to army and naval experts. The country which really wants peace would rather have a few watchful senators on the job to see that the coming conference is not wrecked by some ingenious Mr. Shearer.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

THRILLING TALE ON STATE BILL

"The Four Feathers," now at the State theater, is not a motion picture dealing with a mattress factory. It is one of the most thrilling adventure stories ever written in the English language.

This picture, which was produced by Paramount on the same scale as "Wings," "The Wedding March," "Old Ironsides" and "The Covered Wagon," is from the pen of A. E. W. Mason and often has been referred to as the British "Bible of courage."

The plot revolves about several persons, portrayed on the screen by Richard Arlen, Fay Wray, Clive Brook, William Powell, Noah Beery, Theodor von Eltz, George Fawcett, Noble Johnson, E. J. Ratcliffe and others. The locale is London and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan in northeastern Africa.

JOAN CRAWFORD IN STAR ROLE

If the number thirteen is a jinx, "Our Modern Maidens," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new epic of jazz, a Joan Crawford starring vehicle, at the Ceramic today, with a sound synchronized score, ought to be fairly saturated with voodooism instead of the spirit of youth. Almost everything in it comes to thirteen.

Production on this new ultra-modern picture started on Friday, when Jack Conway directed the first scene. There are exactly 13 people in the cast, including the various bit and part players. The sets, all numbered in the studio's bookkeeping department, were all in the 1,300 classification. The picture was finished on the thirteenth of the month and the last scene was number 213, as listed in the script.

To make matters worse the unit production manager, Ulrich Busch, has just thirteen letters in his name!

The picture, an original by Josephine Lovett, author of "Our Dancing Daughters," has one married couple in it. That is the star, Miss Crawford, and her newly acquired husband, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. Rod La Rocque, Anita Page, Josephine Dunn, Eddie Nugent, Albert Gran and others, of note make up the cast of thirteen principals.

recipients. For the second time these two players are appearing together. The first time was in "Out of the Ruins," and now comes "Young Nowheres," the newest Barthelmess starring vehicle produced by First National-Vitaphone, current feature at the American theater. "Young Nowheres" gives these two players wistfully appealing roles in a story that is as simple and human as life. The story is laid in modern New York and concerns the romance of a young elevator boy and a chambermaid. Their struggle to find for themselves a place in the sun, their difficulties, the manner in which their dreams and hopes are misinterpreted — these form the ideas upon which a perfectly delightful love story has been woven.

At last the great day arrives. The day for which he has saved so that he could invite her to the smartest show in town and supper at the very swankiest restaurant. With a heart beating high with hope and happiness, he calls for her and feels as though cold water had been thrown on him. For the girl who greets him isn't the playmate he's always known. She's a creature from a different world. Hair smoothly sleek, dangling earrings, luxurious furs, beautiful gown!

Of course, he's proud of her, but—! She's so different! Dreamy eyes hold a faraway expression that shuts him out! And his heart aches that she's forgotten so soon. Until—after it's all over, and they get in the homeward bound taxi, she snuggles close and puts her little hand in his and then he KNOWS! That the dreams were of him, and that the stranger isn't a stranger at all, but just the same girl whom he loves and who loves him. ## Needless Pain!

Nowadays, people take Bayer Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Bayer Aspirin tablets are utterly harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to Bayer Aspirin for relief.

Bayer Aspirin is always available, and it always helps. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.

"Stunning Tweed Frocks"

PATTERN 1753
The Review 15c Practical Pattern

Smartness is achieved in this woolen frock, in trim tailored effect. A rounded neckline repeated in a rounded vestee is quite unusual. The separate skirt is pleated in front, and attached to a band, so that it may be worn with other blouses. Small pockets adorn the over blouse.

Design 1753 may be made of tweed, jersey, covert cloth or velveteen. Tweed mixtures of black, red and white, or brown and beige are delightful. The narrow belt may be made of the dress fabric, or leather may be chosen. If velveteen is used for the frock, we suggest a small print.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30.

Size 14 requires 3 yards of 54 inch material.

This model is easy to make. No dressmaking experience is necessary. Each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions, including yardage for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

THE FASHION BOOK is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to The Review Pattern Department, 243 West 17th street, New York City.

1,100 ATTEND MEMORIAL SERVICES IN NAZARENE CHURCH

ALL RECORDS ARE BROKEN ON ANNIVERSARY

Evangelists Assist Pastor, Rev. O. L. Benedum.

SERMON TONIGHT

Revival Campaign Opens in Baptist Church.

With 1,100, or 100 more than the goal in attendance, which broke all records, the nineteenth anniversary of the Church of the Nazarene was observed yesterday with memorial services in the Sunday school for Thomas Darbin, of Chester, former superintendent, who was killed a few years ago by a Pennsylvania railroad train here.

The Rev. "Bud" Robinson and his sister, L. C. Messer, of Pasadena, Calif., spoke and sang, as did the Rev. C. Warren Jones, of Alliance, superintendent of the district. The Barnett sisters, of Akron, also sang. Later this quartet sang in the Ceramic cafeteria, Fifth street, during the noon hour, when they went there for their mid-day repast.

Both in the morning and the evening, the Rev. Theodore Elmer, the Brooklyn, N. Y. evangelist, gave the sermon steps to hell, all beginning with the letter "D": doubt, defeat, deception, delusion, degeneration, denial and damnation.

He announced that he would speak tonight upon "The Second Coming of Christ."

The Rev. O. L. Benedum announced that the Radio Male Quartet, of the Canton Evangelical church, would be at the revival service Tuesday night.

Rev. W. H. Baker in Lima returning for a day to the church of which he had been the pastor for eight years, the Rev. W. H. Baker, of the First Church of Christ, spent yesterday at a homecoming in the South Side Christian edifice in Lima.

During the day he spoke three times, preaching in the morning and in the evening and making an address to the class of men which he long had taught in the Sunday school.

He was also present in the afternoon at a public meeting of the other pastors in the city.

When he assumed the pastorate of the church it was a struggling congregation of some 200 members. He added a thousand to its total during his pastorate.

During the day the present pastor, the Rev. Mr. Tenhoo, presided.

During the Rev. Mr. Baker's absence, the local pulpit was filled by the Rev. J. H. Green, professor of religious education at Bethany college, Bethany, W. Va. In the evening he spoke on the "Parable of the Talents."

Rev. E. A. Walker at Georgetown. Accompanied by Mrs. Walker and their two children, Naomi and David, the Rev. Edgar A. Walker, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church of Park View, left early today for Georgetown, O., where, every night this week, except Saturday, and next Sunday, he will speak in the First Presbyterian church.

His visit will be in the nature of

Never Had A Well Day 'Till She Took 'Orange Root' Says

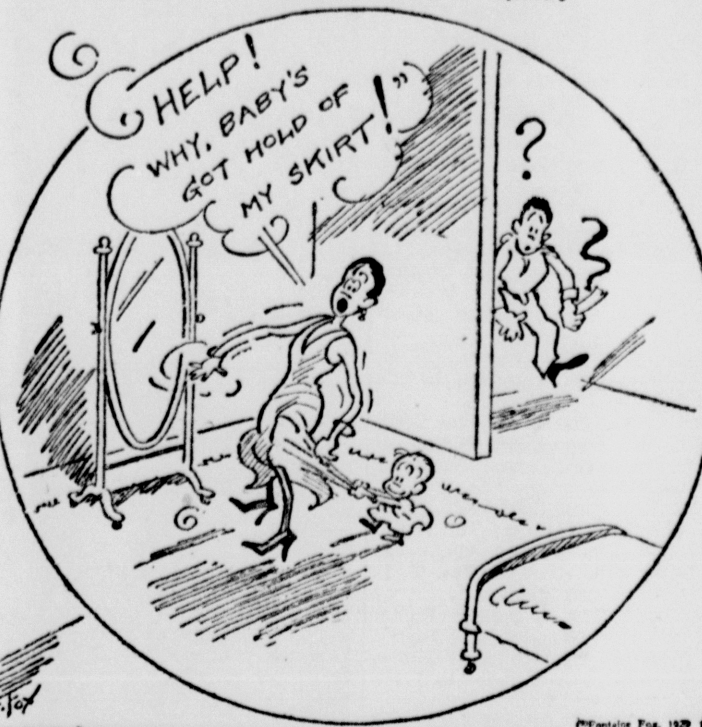

Mrs. Lydia Brookover Tells How 'ORANGE ROOT' Delivered Her From 5-Year Siege of Stomach Trouble and Nervousness — Gained 5 Pounds Already.

Mrs. Ida Brookover, of 842 S. Lake Erie Ave., Steubenville, Ohio, sends in this cheerful message of hope to all weak, run-down and ailing women. Having taken most everything she ever heard of with no good results she was just about to give up when she started the famous ORANGE ROOT treatment, and here is what she says: "This Orange Root, Iron and Celery Compound is the most wonderful medicine on earth. It has given me the only relief I ever had in more than five long years. I suffered terribly with indigestion of the very meanest sort. Gas pains kept me in misery all the time. Everything I ate seemed to disagree with me. I was nervous and could not sleep well at night. I lost weight and was in a very badly rundown condition. I had no strength to speak of. All other medicines failed to benefit me. I started taking this ORANGE ROOT and Golden Nuggets and from the very first I began to improve. I can now eat anything, my food seems to agree with me, and all

City and its business $500,000,000 a year.

An investment of a billion that would carry fifty per cent a year on its cost, would be a good investment.

A Wandlitz in Germany the Sahmer Lage sinking reveals a settlement of dwellings built on piles, a thousand years old.

Migrating Wends built huts out on the lake, a thousand years ago for safety.

PHYSICAL conditions have changed since then, locomotives, automobiles and flying machines replace horses and oxen, fifty-story apartment houses are built, no more huts above the lake.

Human intelligence and character, unfortunately have not kept pace with physical improvements. In material things, the human race has gone forward marvelously.

Mentally, morally, it has practically stood still.

BUT 1929 is only 12,000 years from the late stone age, and fortunately the world still has hundreds of millions of years to go.

Those ancient Wends would recognize us as brothers, by our selfishness, narrowness, superstition, it may not be so a million years hence.

First Baptist Services.

Filling the entire edifice, which was crowded almost to capacity, with the melody of his song and having the audience and the augmented choir catch the contagion of his buoyant manner, a young man, Claude Kelly, of Columbus, former radio announcer, opened a series of evangelistic meetings at the First Baptist church, West Fifth street, last night.

Exhibiting a marvelous voice capable of wide range yet impregnated with appealing sweetness by which it was possible for him to fairly preach by singing he captivated the large throng hearing him. In it all he was able to reveal his own spiritual attainments as between songs he declared "it is wonderful to search one's own heart and know that in them Jesus abides making a situation that gives peace that passeth understanding."

Congregational singing on a parity with that heard in large tabernacle meetings thus resulted.

EAST END WOMAN IS FINED $100

Mrs. Helen Evans, colored, Harkey avenue, was fined $100 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today when she pleaded guilty to a charge of illegally possessing intoxicating liquor. Police said that a pint of whisky was found in her home by Patrolman Kidder Saturday night. The fine was paid.

They swung from "He Abides With Me," to "Shall We Gather At the River," with others between with such abandon that it was almost unnecessary for the Rev. A. H. O'Brien, the pastor, to speak at all. The services will continue until Nov. 13.

The Rev. Mr. O'Brien gave a compelling exposition of the first chapter of the Book of Acts after 300 copies of it had been distributed to the congregation.

"The church in this twentieth century has tried confirmation, education, church-joining, card-signing, hitting the trial and oyster suppers, now let us follow the example of the early Christians and essay trying the Holy Ghost," he declared.

"There will be no benediction pronounced until the revival is concluded on its final night of meeting," announced Mr. Kelly as he directed the last verse of the concluding hymn, "Leaning On the Everlasting Arms." He suggested that with the hymn ended, all shake hands with their neighbors.

Preceding his superior, D. I. Moody, who is to be the song leader of the revival, Mr. Kelly arrived in East Liverpool Saturday afternoon. He was present at yesterday morning's service when he assisted in organizing the choir for the campaign.

He announced that Mr. Moody, also of Columbus, was detained in Cleveland where the two have just completed an engagement.

Without a hitch in his strong young voice, Mr. Kelly sang solo after solo. Among his numbers were "An Old Fashioned Meeting," "The Stranger of Galilee" and "Sweet Peace." He was accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Ruby Aleck.

Meetings were announced for every night this week. Mr. Moody is scheduled to be present tonight.

OHIO DRIVERS, HERE'S LIST OF PENNSY LAWS

Pittsburgh Motor Club Officer Explains Rules.

URGES CAUTION

Tells Buckeye Motorists How to Avoid Trouble.

Unfamiliarity with traffic regulations is blamed for most of the trouble experienced by Ohio motorists in Pennsylvania cities and on highways of the Keystone state, according to C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor club, who today handed down a set of rules which, if observed, he says, will save the Buckeye drivers inconvenience, embarrassment and, possibly, a visit to the judge.

Roth lists the principal provisions of the Pennsylvania traffic code as follows:

Speed limit is 40 miles per hour for passenger cars on the highways, except under the following conditions: 20 miles per hour within business or residential districts where "20-mile speed limit" signs are in place, and within 50 feet of a street intersection, where the view is obstructed, and while traversing such intersections, except through highways or where an officer is on duty, or traffic lights are in operation; 15 miles per hour passing a school during recess or while children are going to or from school, and 10 miles per hour while passing a street car at a safety zone, or when an officer is on duty.

Do not pass a vehicle when approaching the crest of a grade, where the view is obstructed for more than 300 feet.

Do not pass at a railway grade crossing near a highway intersection, unless the crossing is controlled by traffic signals or an officer.

Do not speed up while a car is passing you, but give way to the right when he sounds his horn.

Right turns must be made as close to the right curb or side of the highway as possible, and left turns must be made from the left side of the highway, except left turns from one-way streets, which should be made from the line of traffic nearest the left curb.

Any vehicle approaching an intersection from any direction must yield right of way to a vehicle turning left within the intersection, provided the driver of the turning vehicle has given the proper signal.

Every vehicle must stop before entering the intersection of a through highway, where signs bearing the words, "through traffic stop" have been erected. This law is being strictly enforced.

Do not pass any street car on the left with a travelable portion of the street or highway exists to the right thereof, even though such portion is occupied or obstructed. This provision does not apply to one-way streets.

Do not drive through or over a safety zone and do not drive to the left of a safety zone, where signs forbidding are erected.

The vehicle is permitted to coast down hill with gears in neutral or clutch disengaged.

If an accident, resulting in injury or death to any person or damage to property shall occur, the driver of any vehicle involved must immediately stop at the scene of the accident and must, on request, give his name, address, registration number and other information deemed necessary.

Bingham charged Senator Caraway (D) of Arkansas, with making "misstatements" in attacking him after presentation of a partial report of the lobby committee to the senate on Saturday.

In assailing the committee, he charged that one member used a capitol policeman as a chauffeur to drive him to a west state last summer.

"I demand that the senate name him—I know who he is referring to," shouted Senator Baine (R) of Wisconsin, rising angrily to his feet.

"Very well, it was the senator from Wisconsin," said Bingham. "I'll reply later," said Blaine.

PANTAGES GOES TO JAIL CELL

Theater Owner Faces Prison; Wife Near Death.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 28.—(INS)—Broken in body and spirit, Alexander Pantages, millionaire showman convicted of criminally attacking Miss Eunice Pringle, awoke this morning in the county jail and complained of feeling well.

"It's pretty tough," he remarked. The jail food did not appeal to him. All he wanted was a cup of black coffee.

Regardless of the wealth of prisoners, they are not allowed to have meals brought in from the outside.

Pantages occupied a separate cell last night but there were others in the same tank—a section of the jail designated as the "high power" tank because of the prominent prisoners therein.

Pantages faces a prison term in San Quentin from one to 50 years.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 28.—(INS)—Mrs. Alexander Pantages, wife of the convicted theater magnate and herself awaiting sentence for manslaughter, was reported near death today by her aged mother, Mrs. Elvira Mendenhall.

Weeping, Mrs. Mendenhall said: "We don't know whether we can save her or not."

Luxuries Made Necessities In Modern Style of Living

Maytag Washer Becomes Vital Part of Today's Efficient American Household.

Modern conveniences once regarded as luxuries have become necessities in the general scheme of life. There is the electric washer for instance. Maytag has made it a vital part of the American home because it takes the dread from wash-day.

It means time saved for recreation for the housewife; more time with her children; more time for self-improvement; more opportunities for healthful recreation; and for pleasures with her friends; a Maytag leaves her fresh and untried.

Every woman owes it to herself to make use of these modern labor-saving devices to gain the time for more profitable, pleasant and important pursuits.

For many years all major improvements in washer design and construction have originated in the Maytag, the Maytag Sales Company, West Fifth street, points out. Such outstanding advantages as the cast aluminum tub, the gyration principle of washing and the roller water remover have won world leadership for the Maytag. The Maytag's unmatched washing speed; its thorough, but gentle treatment of the clothes; its hand-

It is the McDole theory that the average householder places greater importance on having his decorating or painting or whatever it is, done quickly and expeditiously.

Given the choice between two painting concerns, one of which lets the job drag out, and the other finishes it quickly after it is started, it is very probable he will choose the latter, even though there should be a few dollars difference in the price. It is worth something to have the work done quickly and done right.

All of these things go into McDole service—painting, papering, interior decorating or whatever branch of the business it may be. The McDole shop is located conveniently near the business district, next to the next Central fire station.

Consult with them on your next painting job, or drop in and see their charming wall paper.

ness; its silent, smooth performance; its larger capacity, but surprising compactness, are all incomparable Maytag features.

What better proof could there be of the Maytag's superiority than the fact that for the past five years more Maytags have been bought by discriminating women than any other washer in the world?

The Maytag is neat and compact in appearance. It requires a floor space of only 25 inches square but because of its sturdy construction, cast-aluminum tub with its rounded corners and cone-shaped bottom, it has an amazing capacity, holding more than the ordinary washer. A big tubful of clothes is washed clean in two to seven minutes; the average washing used to be done in an hour. When the handy, hinged lid is opened, it forms a convenient table for sorting and piling clothes.

The folks down at the Maytag Sales Company, 129 West Fifth street, want to give you a trial Maytag washing just to prove to you the truth of their claims.

Try the Maytag in your own home, in your own way, with your own clothes. See for yourself how it washes clothes in from two to seven minutes without hand rubbing. There is no obligation, no cost—this must be understood for Maytag—see for yourself.

And the Maytag people say—If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it!

"My Spring Fever Was Year Round," Says Local Resident

Run Down, Tired, All-in Feeling Quickly Disappears and In Its Place Comes Renewed Energy.

Sluggish liver function bringing about constipation, stomach disorders, nervousness, tired and run down conditions quickly disappear when the use of this natural remedy is begun. Now it eliminates harmful, poisonous toxins from the body is surprising to any sufferers who time after time have been disappointed by the use of other methods. It especially proves its merits in cases where other remedies and treatments had failed. We do not claim that Owa-Ton-Na performs miracles but it obtains its results not through doping, deadening drugs; but by the use of nature's own roots, herbs, barks and berries, compounded in the manner that it was originally compounded by the Red Man.

Prominent men and women all over this broad land speak so highly of Owa-Ton-Na that it is becoming the most popular seller among druggists. Another local endorser of Owa-Ton-Na is Mr. J. D. Michael, 319 Garfield Ave., N. E., E. Liverpool, one of E. Liverpool's old stable residents, whose word anyone can take as bonified. He says: "For the past few years, I have not been myself. Stomach, liver and kidney disorders together with rheumatism caused me many days of misery."

"Food of any kind at times seemed to disagree with me. Gas and bloating spells caused me a great deal of misery. I didn't seem to have any appetite at all. I was always troubled with constipation and laxatives didn't do me a bit of good. Kidney trouble is what made my back pain me so terribly, I imagine. Why, at times it felt as though somebody was pounding my back and I would have trouble straightening up. The rheumatism caused the joints all over my body to ache."

"Owa-Ton-Na is the best medicine I have ever taken. Time after time I tried other medicines with results but somehow Owa-Ton-Na seems to be different. It just seems to cleanse the system from top to bottom. Almost at once my bowels started to function normally and I certainly have a wonderful appetite now. Food doesn't cause me to have gas and bloating spells and indigestion is a thing of the past. Headaches and backaches are going and my kidneys are again functioning normally. In fact, I feel like a new man and that tired, all-in feeling is a thing of the past. I now have all kinds of pep and feel like going about my work."

The Owa-Ton-Na which Mr. Michael speaks so highly of is the same remedy that is being explained daily to eager health seekers at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 E. 6th St., East Liverpool. Why not call today and have a confidential talk with the special laboratory representative located there, about your own case? This service is free and incurs no obligation. Owa-Ton-Na is also obtainable at Carnahan's East End and Newell, W. Va. Stores.—Adv.

Dry Clean Your Suit—and Save Your Collars

That collar was put on clean an hour ago—now there's a grimy streak all the way 'round.

Usually there's just one reason for that grimy streak—a grimy coat collar.

Ever stop to think of all the dirt and dust and grit and cinders and smoke your clothes collect every day?

For your health's sake, and for neatness, too, it's just as important that coats and trousers be cleaned frequently as it is to have your personal linen laundered regularly.

And it's a good thing for one's pocket-book in the long run—for it's the grit and grime and the loss of shape that kill clothes—not the wear.

We can call for that coat or suit tomorrow, if you wish. A telephone message will bring us.

Zookmen Develop Remarkable Defensive Play in Annual Clash With Belmont County Combine.

EVEN though they failed to upset any of the so-called dope buckets or record other such figurative achievements, Coach Earl Zook's Potters nevertheless came through with a startlingly good performance Saturday afternoon as they held the strong Bellaire combine to a two touchdown victory on the Bellaire gridiron. The count was 12 to 0.

Facing the Red and Black a week after the latter had run roughshod over Toronto, 32 to 7, and in view of Toronto's 7 to 6 win over the locals, the Zookman faced dismal prospects prior to the Bellaire battle. But the spirit, the fight and the courage the East Liverpool lads have shown right along despite continual setbacks, flashed to the front again and bore the Potters to unexpected heights in one of their most difficult assignments since the opened with Canton McKinley.

The game emphasized a fact which has been more or less prominent since the 1928 East Liverpool eleven began operations—that it has a remarkably good defense in which a scrappy, hard working, effective line predominates. In fact, it would not require much encouragement to declare that the East Liverpool line has not met a superior this season, barring none, in all-around performance.

The Blue and White forwards battered down the Bellaire drives repeatedly Saturday and worked most effectively in the trenches. And by reason of this fact, Bellaire resorted to a passing campaign out of which came its two touchdowns.

Bellaire scored in the first period and again in the third. With the ball on the East Liverpool 20 yard line, Munjas passed to Goodwin. It was more of a lateral heave than a forward, but End Goodwin, far out for the throw, grabbed it in and hustled the rest of the route for six points.

TRIPLE PASS BRINGS TOUCHDOWN

A STRONG wind proved of some assistance to the Potters in their first touchdown. The kickoff sent the ball deep into East Liverpool territory and the return punt, after the Potters had failed to gain, carried back only to midfield. After tangles and Strahl had picked something like five yards, Bellaire kicked. The booting dunt on for several minutes until, finally, Munjas got a 30-yard forward pass to Goodwin.

From the 23 yard line, Correll hit the line for five and Munjas' pass a Piccard accounted for an additional five.

Then came the scoring play, executed by the triple pass method from Correll to Munjas to the "tack" Goodwin.

Pass for the extra point was blocked down.

East Liverpool had its greatest scoring opportunity in the second period but couldn't punch the ball cross.

After a punt exchange, during which both teams found it almost impossible to gain ground, the Potters got a break when Bellaire was penalized 25 yards for clipping from the rear on a punt return.

East Liverpool was held for downs and Bowen punted to the Bellaire 10 yard line where Correllumbled. Morgan, a Blue and White backfield man, swooped down on the ball and gobbled it up to put the locals right under the goal posts. Two line plays failed and then a forward pass was intercepted by Piccard. Bellaire drew another penalty for five yards but the Red and Black showed their greatest line offense of the game when they launched a drive which netted them 17 yards and advanced the ball toward the center of the field.

Bellaire took to the air with everything it had in the third period and netted its second marker.

POTTERS REPULSE FINAL ATTACK

BELLAIRE opened a final, furious attack in the concluding quarter and time after time ripped through the locals, only to be stopped as they nosed their way into the scoring zone. Zook's lads appeared possibly a trifle weary in the final canto after their strenuous labors and the remarkable fight they had put up all through the game.

Strahl pulled off a 30-yard get-away from the 50 in this quarter and succeeded in negotiating shorter runs thereafter but on every occasion the Bellaire drives brought up short against a wall of blue and white jerseys.

The Bellaire triple pass again was much in evidence in the closing minute of play and one of the combination heaves such as Goodwin scored with in the first period came close to counting and, while it placed the ball deep in East Liverpool territory, the Red and Black lacked power to take it the rest of the way.

Munjas and Strahl, of the Bellaire backfield ran true to form as the chief threats of the Red and Black ball carrying coterie, with Goodwin, another veteran, playing up to the handle all along.

If the individual performance of any of the East Liverpool linemen was outstanding, it was that of Tackles Dalrymple and McCoy, although it can be said that the entire forward seven, from end to end, McConville, Burbank, Althar, B. Smith and Ashbaugh, played a brand of ball that would meet approval on any gridiron.

But the work of the tackles prompted Wheeling critics also to declare that "the visitors produced two of the best tackles, in Dalrymple and McCoy, that have been seen on the Bellaire field in many games."

McConville turned in probably his best game of the season, his defensive performance featuring. Coach Zook used a number of

Buckeye Spirit Is Aroused With Pitt Clash In Offing

Miserable Showing of Scarlet Gives Hoosiers "Moral Victory."

By H. T. HOPKINS.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 28.—Out-classed in every department of the game except punting, Ohio State gridlers allowed the smoothly-seared Hoosiers of Indiana to win a "moral victory" here Saturday.

The Ohio stadium, where the football fracas was staged, is often referred to as the "huge horseshoe." The big place was insignificant compared to all the horseshoes which the Buckeyes had. If one had examined their shoes after the game he would likely have discovered their bottoms were equipped with horseshoes instead of cleats.

The scoreless tie by no means indicates the relative merits of the two Big Ten football aggregations. The Bucks appeared as bad as they did in the opening game of the season against Wittenberg. The poor showing of the local performers made their wins over Iowa and Michigan all the more surprising.

In the distribution of praise, Ohio gets let out when the punting of McConnell is mentioned. However, Sam Willaman's men should be given credit for tightening their defense whenever the invaders advanced in the neighborhood of the 20-yard line.

Fumbles caused most of the trouble. The Crimson and Gray warriors muffed the ball seven times, and all of them were disastrous. Sometimes fumbles are excusable. But if there was an lot of excuse for any one of the seven misuses, the writer is blind in one eye and unable to see with his other optic.

Pat Page's shift play caught the Willaman gladiators completely off balance in the first quarter, and during other stages of the contest for that matter. Instead of showing its erstwhile stone wall defense, the Ohio forward wall, Saturday, seemed to be composed of paper. The Hoosiers opened holes in it as big as the stadium itself.

Sloppy tackling—well, there were gobs of that on the part of the home guard, even Fesler of tending in that respect.

It was better not to go into mere disheartening description, merely summing it up this way: Indiana made eight downs and State only three, the Hoosiers gaining 197 yards, nearly twice Ohio's 105.

Pat Page's cohorts appeared as superior to their opponents as the figures indicate.

There is some consolation for followers of the Crimson and Gray. Ohio, aided and abetted by Dame Fortune, didn't lose, and is still at the top of the Western Conference race, with two wins, no defeats and a tie. However, Purdue should be put in first position for the Boiler-makers have two victories, no losses and no ties.

Further consolation is that the Crimson and Gray moleskin-toters, due to their miserable showing against Indiana, will be fired with their former spirit, and will exert more strenuous efforts to redeem themselves against Pitt next Saturday at Pittsburgh.

Watch them dig into the Panthers!

Lisbon Loses Game Battle To Quakers

Quakers Roll up Points in Early Periods.

LISBON, O., Oct. 28.—Before one of the largest crowds of the season Lisbon high school grid team went down to defeat at the hands of Salem High's eleven, but went down fighting, 20 to 0. The game was played at the Fair grounds field and was the annual clash between these schools.

The first quarter looked fine for Salem with two touchdowns and a score of 13-0 in their favor before Lisbon actually got awakened. Drakulich carried the first touchdown over for Salem, Whinnery failed to kick the extra point, and Whinnery carried the ball over for Salem's second score while Smith carried it over for the extra point.

The second quarter was very much Lisbon's period although they failed to score and the half ended with the ball in their possession within about three yards of the goal. Passes played an important part in this offensive with Lewis doing the hurling and Bye, Cornell and McKee doing the receiving.

Lisbon started the third period by kicking to Salem who failed to gain an inch and punted to Lisbon. Lisbon then marched down the field with passes and end runs, to Salem's 10 yard line where Salem held and threw them for losses, finally taking possession of the ball on their own 22 yard line. Salem scored toward the close of this period after a break and a 25 yard penalty in their favor, Whinnery carrying it over and Beck added the extra point on a plunge. The score stood 20-0 in favor of the visitors at the end of this period.

The last quarter was scoreless although Lisbon outplayed Salem in this period and again placed the ball within sight of the goal, on the 3 yard line, only to lose on downs. The game ended with the ball in Lisbon's possession near the center of the field.

Sports Pros Drop 13-0 Battle To Pittsburgh Champs

Defense Which Had Stopped Powerful West View Plunges for Two Quarters, Cracks in Third.

EAST LIVERPOOL PROS broke into the spotlight in Tri-State district independent football yesterday afternoon at West View, Pittsburgh, and while they came off second best in a 13 to 0 battle with the Pittsburgh district champions, the Potters covered themselves with mire and glory in a performance which stamps them as one of the leading elevens of western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio.

For two quarters, the powerful West View offense was held helpless and then Stan Berkman, star quarterback of the borough eleven, raced away with long runs to pave the way for the two touchdowns of the battle.

A crowd of more than 5,000 fans saw the contest.

The Pros played a strictly defensive game at the start, on numerous occasions kicking on the first down. West View several times was in the scoring zone, but could not make their opportunities count.

In the third period Berkman got loose at right end for 35 yards, carrying the ball within three yards of the goal. Havrilla took it to within inches of a score and then Mose Kelsch, out of the lineup with an injured leg, was injected and the "Big Train" rolled over for the first tally and then kicked the goal. He then left the lineup. Another run by Berkman again brought the oval close to the foe's line and Cole plucked it over, missing the placement kick for the extra point.

M'Kay Scheduled to Open Campaign Today.

EDWARD M'KAY, Pittsburgh brokerage expert, today was scheduled to launch the Auditorium company's $150,000 campaign for the sale of stock in the proposed civic and sports building planned by business and professional leaders of the district at West Fifth and Jackson streets. He will be aided in the campaign by officers of the company, including J. M. Wells, president, and Malcolm W. Thompson, treasurer.

Three thousand shares of common stock in the company at a par value of $50 a share, will be placed on sale.

McKay expected to establish headquarters in a downtown office building from which he will work during his stay here.

Whether the proposed building will be erected this fall depends, declare officers, upon the rapidity of the stock sale.

And, naturally, weather conditions and the ability of the contractor to operate under pressure at this time of the year, would be factors.

In the event, however, that the company decides to wait until spring, high school basketballs, who played before crowds of 1,000 or more at the tabernacle auditorium last winter, will go back to the school gymnasium and while an independent team may be formed, it will undoubtedly play exclusively on the road.

Lorah's 11 Beats Bergholz

Play Heads-up Ball to Score Two Touchdowns.

EWELL, W. Va., Oct. 28.—Newell high school grid-ers got away for their third consecutive victory here Saturday when they took the Bergholz aggregation into camp by a score of 12 to 0.

An intercepted forward pass followed by a series of line plunges produced the first touchdown in the second quarter and a poor punt by the visitors on their five-yard line in the final period put the locals in position for their second score.

The game was hard fought throughout. Newell registered five first downs to Bergholz three. On only two occasions were the visitors in Newell territory, in the third and the final quarters.

Bergholz passing was more effective than Newell's but the aerial attack failed to put them in scoring position.

After a close fight in the opening period, Burson intercepted Bergholz's forward in the second on the Bergholz 40-yard line and raced to the five-yard stripe where he was brought down. Although Newell suffered a five-yard penalty at this juncture, they punched the line for the touchdown, Kaufman wriggling through left tackle for the score.

The visitors more than held their own in the third period, which was featured by the 50-yard run of Rush. Bergholz fullback, from the kickoff. He toted the ball to the Newell 12-yard marker but the West Virginians braced and took the ball on downs. Then Kaufman got off a great punt. The wind was with him and the ball rolled away from the Bergholz receiver to the five-yard marker. Rush got off a poor boot, the ball dropping over the line of scrimmage. Kaufman hit the line for four yards and Gilmore plunged the rest of the way to the goal line. The playing of Manson, Kaufman, Gilmore, Burson and Rose featured for the Lorahmen while Rush, Kaufman and Oras-o were the Bergholz mainstays.

Steelers Capture 6-0 Clash

MIDLAND, Pa., Oct. 28.—Hard fought battle between the Midland Merchants, semi-professional team, and the Ambridge Mystics at the Twelfth street park here yesterday afternoon ended in a 6 to 0 in favor of "Doc" Benedict's Steel City eleven. The teams were in a scoreless deadlock at the end of the first half. Both sides had gained little ground. In the first few minutes of the third period Holsinger, Mystic fullback, attempted to punt from his 20-yard line. The kick was blocked by Ben Kaye, Steel City tackle, and bounded over the goal line. Hibbert, right end, made the ball count by dropping on it over the stripe. Ambridge blocked the try for the extra point.

Hibbert completed a touchdown in the fourth quarter but it was ruled out because of an offside play. Hibbert had pulled an aerial from the air on the 20-yard line and dashed over the last white marker.

Alquist and Gigler, back and end, respectively, for the upriver squad, failed to gain ground when they launched a passing attack. These two had passed and received over the Rochester team some time ago and knew when and where to toss the pigskin. Sheehan's eagle eye for noticing an open man to make a pass and his tricky maneuvers behind the line were features of the game.

Tonti's line plunging and tackling were outstanding.

NOTRE DAME, PITT, DARTMOUTH LOOM AS GRIDIRON LEADERS

And Score of Others Go Undefeated in Week-end Tilts.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The football capital of America might be found today among the stately spires that rise above the campus just outside of South Bend, Ind. It might be the tiny hamlet they call Hanover, N. H., nestled in a setting that is almost primitive. It might be beautiful Los Angeles; somber, half-toned Pittsburgh; historic Knoxville; quaint, old New Orleans; the eastern outlier on the edge of the desert, Salt Lake City; or that sprightly charmer of the Northwest, Minneapolis.

It might be any of these and it might be none. For while Notre Dame, Dartmouth, Southern California, Pittsburgh, Tennessee, Tulane, Utah and Minnesota remained undefeated in week-end games that were all consequential, so did Purdue, Texas, California and Detroit, while Cornell drew a blank altogether and so preserved its record intact.

All we have to go on today is that Dartmouth, having ruined Harvard, must be conceded to be one of two leading teams in the east and that the other is Pittsburgh; that Southern California's 7 to 0 victory over Stanford gives it most of the authority on the coast; that Texas looks the part as the best team in the southwest; that Tulane's disposal of Georgia Tech stakes it to an equal ranking with Tennessee in the south; that Purdue, with another victory over Chicago, is in sole charge of the Big Ten at the moment and so on.

Notre Dame Beats Carnegie. Including among the ecceters, so to speak, is the fact that Notre Dame survived another of its big moments, this time beating Carnegie Tech by a touchdown. Nebraska and Missouri, having played a 7 to 7 tie, must look to the remainder of their schedules for the Big Six championship and that Utah, winner over Colorado Aggies, still is the best bet in the rising, young Rocky Mountain conference.

With the exception of Nebraska, beaten by Pitt, and naturally, Missouri, these form the 100 percent group in the football lists, although California, in view of its scoreless tie with St. Mary's, actually belongs with Fordham and Davis Elkins, co-stars in Saturday's tie; Boston college, W. & J., Illinois, Ohio State, Missouri, Southern Methodist and Villanova. Tie scores have depreciated the championship status of this coterie and, in some cases, have disposed of them altogether.

It was Ohio State's scoreless tie with Indiana on Saturday, for instance, that makes possible Purdue's position today. It was one of the major upsets of the day, of which there were three others. The only one that really counted was Army's remarkable defeat by Yale. The others saw Princeton tie the Navy and Florida beat Georgia, after losing to Tech the week before.

One-Man Defeat for Army. It was a one-man defeat that Yale gave the Army, which was 13 points to the good when Albie Booth came on the field and eight points to the bad when he left. Albie scored them all. This 140 pound whippet handled the ball one way or another, on every play and climaxed his performance with a 70-yard run for the winning touchdown. Marsters beat Harvard, although it must be admitted that quite a football team scored 20 points for Dartmouth in the final period. In all, Dartmouth has scored 255 points this season against the lone touchdown that Harvard got on Saturday. Southern California has scored 216.

Three other power teams, Pittsburgh, Minnesota and Tennessee ran wild against Allegheny, Ripon and W. and L., respectively, proving that they can beat the good ones and make the bad ones look silly. Texas didn't look like any body's chump, either, in running up 39 points on Rice. As for Nebraska, it caught its usual tartar in Missouri and had to pass its way to a tie in the last period. Chicago didn't even have that chance again. Purdue. A much inferior team, it finished the game with a record of not having scored on Purdue since 1927, whereas the latter has totaled 66 points. Utah's position is still to be questioned by Colorado college, of course.

The Navy should have beaten Princeton but didn't. Brown fumbled its way into defeat by Syracuse, W. and L. looked bad in a scoreless tie with Temple and Pennsylvania looked even worse in barely outscoring Lehigh. The 14 to 0 victories of Illinois and Iowa over Michigan and Wisconsin was expected. So was Detroit's ninth straight at the expense of Loyola. However, Florida turned a form handspring in stopping Georgia's threats in the first half and then beating the Bulldogs by 18 to 6, while Georgia Tech, scoring 14 points in the last period, quite obviously delayed its rally against Tulane over-long.

material, that can't be helped. They put up a brave fight, but sometimes it takes more than such a spirit to win a football tilt.

Cincinnati was the scene of another big contest when the St. Xavier Musketeers kept their slate clean by emerging from the game against the tough Leathernecks of the Quinico Marines with a score of 13 to 7. Flowers for the living should go to St. X.

Ohio Wesleyan, playing a non-conference game with Western Reserve, managed to pile up 56 points while the Wildcats had a very hard time to obtain a little seven. The battling Bishops were the decided favorites and so no coin or tears should have been wasted on the outcome of that pigskin scuffle.

Miami's Victory Is Upset

And State's Scoreless Tie Surprises, Too.

By Jack Vincent.
COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 28.—Victory is sweet! Defeat is bitter!

Ohio colleges, except Ohio State, were tasting either one or the other of those experiences today following October's last Saturday which was literally crowded with gridiron classics.

The Buckeyes, upon whom all Ohio looked for an Indiana triumph had to be content with a scoreless tie when they met the Hoosiers in Ohio State's huge stadium, and then they were lucky, oh so lucky. The visitors outplayed Coach Samuel Willaman's cohorts, but for some reason which can be fathomed by this scribe yet, the "Scarlet and Gray" clad warriors managed to hold Pat Page's passers scoreless. The 0 to 0 contest is a great moral victory for the squad from Bloomington.

In the feature tilt of the Buckeye conference, Miami university's big red team, place-kicked a 3 to 0 victory over Captain Edwards and his strong Wittenberg team. The win came as a surprise to nearly everyone, except this writer, who, Friday, predicted that Miami would emerge triumphant. In winning, Miami threw the "Big Six" standings into a muddle.

Ohio university's Bobcats took an easy victory from the Cincinnati Bearcats, by a 35 to 9 score. The game ended as expected. It was a setup for the powerful Athens machine. The U. of C. has a weak team this year.

In all, Dartmouth has scored 255 points this season against the lone touchdown that Harvard got on Saturday. Southern California has scored 216.

Three other power teams, Pittsburgh, Minnesota and Tennessee ran wild against Allegheny, Ripon and W. and L., respectively, proving that they can beat the good ones and make the bad ones look silly. Texas didn't look like any body's chump, either, in running up 39 points on Rice. As for Nebraska, it caught its usual tartar in Missouri and had to pass its way to a tie in the last period. Chicago didn't even have that chance again. Purdue. A much inferior team, it finished the game with a record of not having scored on Purdue since 1927, whereas the latter has totaled 66 points. Utah's position is still to be questioned by Colorado college, of course.

The Navy should have beaten Princeton but didn't. Brown fumbled its way into defeat by Syracuse, W. and L. looked bad in a scoreless tie with Temple and Pennsylvania looked even worse in barely outscoring Lehigh. The 14 to 0 victories of Illinois and Iowa over Michigan and Wisconsin was expected. So was Detroit's ninth straight at the expense of Loyola. However, Florida turned a form handspring in stopping Georgia's threats in the first half and then beating the Bulldogs by 18 to 6, while Georgia Tech, scoring 14 points in the last period, quite obviously delayed its rally against Tulane over-long.

Petrella Flashes Long Run

Runs Back Carrollton Punt 70 Yards To Score.

WELLSVILLE, O., Oct. 28.—Carrollton high took its first trimming of the season here Saturday afternoon at the hands of Wellsville's Orange and Black combine in a game featured by Petrella's 70-yard run for the sole touchdown of the contest. The score was 6 to 0.

Neither team was able to score in the first half, the battle seesawing up and down the field. When the half closed Wellsville was in possession of the ball on their own 10-yard line with two downs to go. The Tigers were punting only on fourth downs because of the stiff breeze blowing against them which stopped kicks after traveling but 20 or 30 yards.

With the third period half over, Petrella scored the only touchdown of the game. He took John-son's punt on his own 30-yard line, tore loose from two tacklers, ducked another and with the aid of good interference, raced 70 yards for the touchdown.

Carrollton shoved the ball to the Wellsville four-yard line on one occasion and to the five on another thereafter but ran into stone-wall defenses each time.

The visitors resorted to passes in the final minutes of the last period, at one time throwing four consecutive incomplete tosses which cost them 15 yards in penalties.

Checker was back in the lineup after two weeks' absence. He and Petrella did most of the ground gaining for the winners, and also figured prominently on defense.

Purple Defeated By Weirton Squad

Defenses Fall Before Heavy Onslaught of Fast, More Experienced Foes From Steel Town.

CHESTER, W. Va., Oct. 28.—Weir high school defeated Chester high, its premier county rival, Saturday afternoon at Smith Field, 32 to 0, scoring in every quarter save the third.

The feature of the victory was the 80-yard hike for a touchdown made by Captain Howard Gelin in the second quarter. Gelin went off right tackle then cut through the center for his thrilling dash.

Coach Hamill kept six starters on the bench at the outset of the game because of minor injuries. He sent them into the fray intermittently after the latter part of the first quarter. Every member on the squad got a slice of the victory cake.

Patsy Slate, acting captain in the absence of Gelin, played a crack game at the fullback post, from where he called signals during the entire contest, carried the ball and scored two touchdowns. Gelin also scored two during the moments that he was in the backfield, while Kopko, flashy halfback, plowed through for one.

Aided by a long pass in the first quarter the Red and Black advanced the ball from their own 40-yard line down the field to the opposing 40 from where line plunges by Slate and McLaughlin carried the oval on three first downs to the two-yard line from where Slate speared over. Slate added the extra point.

The second goal came shortly after the varsity men were thrown into the battle. After taking the ball on Chester's 25, alternating line smashes by Gelin, Kopko and Slate placed the agate within scoring distance on the two-yard line from where Kopko hammered across. The other goal followed shortly after. After taking the ball on their own 20 as the result of a punt passing over their goal lines, Gelin crashed off right tackle for an 80-yard hike for a touchdown in plunging over for the extra point, a Weirton lineman was off-side.

After being held at bay in the third quarter with play being concentrated in Chester's territory, the Weir grid-ers prepared their guns for action in the fourth.

A bad punt by Chester on their 28-yard line paved the way for the first goal, while Gelin in the last four minutes intercepted a forward pass and raced 40 yards for the touchdown.

Chester took to the air on numerous occasions in the final quarter but met with little success.

PURDUE LEADS BIG TEN RACE

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Purdue leading the pack. That is how the Western conference race runs today with three of the seven Saturdays of this season's calendar gone by.

Although the leaders are beginning to make their presence felt, not even the boldest of critics is ready to designate the likely champion.

Four Big Ten teams remain undefeated, Purdue, Minnesota, Ohio State and Illinois, but the latter two have marred their records with a tie apiece. Two others, Iowa and Northwestern, each has suffered only one defeat, leaving six teams which still have a mathematical chance at

ALL-TALKING COMEDY AT CERAMIC

CHARLEY CHASE in the All-Talking Comedy "THE BIG SQUAWK"

Charley was a bashful, girl-shy young chap, madly in love with the one and only, Mary, a heartless little coquette. Gaily she flirted with every eligible male, while Charley gnashed his teeth in vain.
Finally, driven to desperation by her flagrant coquetries at a country club dancing party, Charley listened to the words of wisdom of one of his sympathetic friends. Acting upon the well-meaning advice, Charley drove through a drenching rain to the friend's mountain cabin, while the self-appointed Mr. Fixit informed the brunette Mary that Charley was stepping forth with a blonde beauty. At the Ceramic

COUNTY SUED IN AUTO WRECK

William and James H. McHugh Ask $25,000.

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 28.—William McHugh and his father, James H. Springer. Springer at the time was employed as assistant farmer at the Beaver county home.

The plaintiffs contend that the machine belonged to the county. The defendants allege the car was the property of Springer.

OYEZ!
OYEZ!
OYEZ!
CANNED MUSIC ON TRIAL

THIS is the case of Art vs. Mechanical Music in Theaters. The defendant stands accused before the American people of attempted corruption of musical appreciation and discouragement of musical education.

Theaters in many cities are offering synchronized mechanical music as a substitute for Real Music. If the theatre-going public accepts this violation of its entertainment program a deplorable decline in the Art of Music is inevitable.

Musical authorities know that the soul of the Art is lost in mechanization. It cannot be otherwise because the quality of music is dependent upon the present mood of the artist, upon the human contact, without which the essence of intellectual stimulation and emotional rapture is lost.

Is Music Worth Saving?

No great volume of evidence is required to answer this question. Music is a well-nigh universally beloved art. From the beginning of history men have turned to musical expression to lighten the burden of life, to make them happier. Aborigines, lowest in the scale of savagery, chant their songs to tribal Gods and play upon pipes and shark-skin drums. Musical development has kept pace with good taste and ethics throughout the ages, and has influenced the gentler nature of man more powerfully perhaps than any other factor.

Has it remained for the Great Age of Science to snub the Art by setting up in its place a pale and feeble shadow of itself?

BIBLE BELIEF

IS URGED BY DR. M. B. STOUT

Portsmouth Pastor in Presbyterian Pulpit.

SONG SERVICE

Three Sermons are Delivered by Visiting Minister.

"Rather would I black the shoes of a Job Ingersoll than be the man who takes the pay of church adherent and saint within it while not subscribing to the beliefs for which it stands," asserted Rev. Dr. Maurice B. Stout, of Portsmouth, in the second of three sermons which he delivered at the Second Presbyterian church yesterday.

He preached upon the theme, "Can the Modern Mind Believe the Bible?" and decisively replied affirmatively to his own interrogation.

Preceding his discourse a service of song was held by the choir and congregation which was directed by Oliver Johnson with Mrs. Lavina McVey as accompanist. In addition, Miss Hilda McCoy contributed a solo, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer."

Urges Review of Bible.

"This is a notable time for book reviewing," Dr. Stout said, "but within the scope of the Bible are 66 books which are little reviewed even by those who apparently are supposed to do so. A life-time of study of them will but touch the fringe of their contents."

"And have you not noticed parents at the baptism of a child glibly promising to do the things which are demandful in the way of worship for the benefit of themselves and the growing babe and then not being seen again in the church until it is time to christen the next one arriving in their home," he observed.

He deprecated the tendency of ministers in many instances stressing social service rather than salvation. He told of a visiting minister in such a church who preached a gospel sermon which the pastor's congregation heard with avidity. Returning to the latter's study the pastor laughed as he exclaimed to his co-laborer: "And so you still believe what you preached tonight?"

"Why announce Easter services if you do not believe in the resurrection was the visitor's retort. "Oh, they will believe it anyway," was the mild reply. "And anyway the conservatives in the church will pay the bills."

This instance, he declared, was symbolic of the situation in many pulpits which he held went to prove that false teaching and teachers would arise in the land during the age of apostasy. He likewise narrated of theological professors teaching that "may be there is a God and may be there is not." "Yet such send out men to preach," he said, "Always they emphasize the ethics of Jesus and the Sermon on the Mount."

He noted that some while back a woman gave a $20,000 poodle dog party. "And yet there were children within a stone's throw of her residence who needed milk for nourishment," he commented.

Bible Will Defend Itself. "The sacrificial blood of the Cross is being withheld from certain pulpits in these days," he observed. "Why, I have heard that some have commented on me: 'He still believes in hell.'"

"If you will but turn the Bible loose it will defend itself," he declared. "I do not like a straggler anywhere and certainly not in the pulpit which was erected to preach Jesus Christ. 'All of which, he averred, was in keeping with the scriptural assertion 'that some have departed from the faith once for all delivered to the saints.'"

"Capital and labor will conflict in these latter days. None a century ago could envision the wealth owned in a single lifetime by those having it today."

"The biggest enemy to the church at the moment is the tendency towards reformation while ignoring the Christly command that a new individual birth is necessary. 'The turning over of a new leaf is not enough when one makes a promise to change. Such often lacks the spontaneous thing flowing from within because they have not trusted in a 100 per cent Saviour.'"

God Will Return. "There is nothing more certain in the scriptures than that God will return some day; and there is nothing more uncertain than the time of His coming. We, His adherents, are to show His death till He come."

"This church and any other one will have a transition when its members devote fifteen minutes daily to the perusal of the Bible, when they will let God talk to them and they in return talk fifteen minutes to God and then an equal time to some one else about God."

"If people preach the judgment of God these days they are criticised in many instances. Preachers doing so did not make hell for it was prepared for the devil and his angels, but men, in addition, are going there in spite of themselves."

The Bible is not a record of everything God has ever done; it simply touches that which touches redemption."

The invocation and benediction were pronounced and given by the Rev. Dr. F. A. Dean, the pastor, in the evening the Rev. Dr. Stout concluded his engagement by speaking on the subject, "Can the Story of Jonah Be Believed by Christians?"
